PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dr. Luis G. Pedraja

Growing up in Florida, I had never experienced fall until I went to graduate school. I remember feeling energized by the crisp cold air, walking under a canopy of vibrant colors, feeling the crunch of leaves under my feet, the smell of wood oozing from fireplaces as I watched the leaves swirling in the wind like a paintbrush moving across the canvas of the city.

At the same time that the world was changing, so was my life. One Friday afternoon returning home from a full week of classes, I got the call that my father had died unexpectedly of a heart attack. In the midst of grieving, I wondered whether I would be able to continue my education or would I need to quit so that I could support my mother.

Life happens when we least expect it, throwing us a curve ball and leaving us wondering how we will make it. While those days proved quite difficult, I knew that my father would have wanted me to continue with my education. Eventually, my family rallied to support me and I was able to graduate. Nevertheless, the fall colors still fill me with a bit of melancholy and remind me of the many challenges you face beyond the classroom. However, I also find comfort in the fiery colors of fall, recognizing the intrinsic beauty of nature as it faces the coming adversity of winter.

Often, the challenges we face might seem unsurmountable, but they also allows us to grow. As the philosopher, Nietzsche, once said: "What does not destroy us makes us stronger". By choosing to attend college, you have chosen to change your life for the better. Although you might struggle at times and face obstacles, you can persevere. If you feel overwhelmed, do not get discouraged. Speak to your teachers, advisor, friends, and family. Every problem or challenge we face is also an opportunity to learn and grow. No matter how difficult it may get, things will change.

At this point in the term, you are well into your studies and have the end of the term in sight. As the days get shorter and colder, do not forget how much you have accomplished so far during this term, such as learning something new, making new friends, and overcoming challenges. Also, keep focused on your ultimate goal: completing your courses and your degree. On cold, dark mornings, we may want to remain longer in our beds. We may also feel discouraged by the challenges we face, both in and out of the classroom. I encourage you to rise and keep on moving toward your academic goal.

I challenge you to face the challenges of today head on, to shape the future, and dream of what tomorrow could be.

Proud Of Our Veterans

by Yozue A. Davila

Veterans Day, formerly known as Armistice Day, is celebrated on November 11th as a federal holiday to honor military members and veterans who have served this great country for peace and justice. Many of us have seen on the news how the Army, Air Force, Marine Corps, Navy, and Coast Guard actively respond to situations both in state and overseas to keep us safe and in peace. There are local heroes who walk among us; those who have served and continue to serve close within our neighborhood and on our proud campus. Our college includes many veteran and military students who have served our country in one way or another, be it overseas or in state, in time of peace and war. The Open Door has reached out to these local heroes and asked them to give us some of their time to honor us with their knowledge and service history.

Joshua Alvarez

Joshua Alvarez is a Psychology Major at QCC who served in the Marine Corp from 2010-2015, retiring with the rank of Lance Corporal. Joshua has been deployed to Afghanistan, Korea, and Japan while he served his term at Camp Pendleton, CA as a Rifleman. Joshua believes Veterans Day to be the reflection and honor to those who have served, recognizing their sacrifice and service.

The military has benefited him through discipline, a strong sense of character, professionalism, and appreciation for the country as well as for the military service. His advice to veteran students are to know what you would like for a career, use your skills and experience from the military to your advantage and use your benefits wisely. To those who wish to serve: "Go in with the mindset of serving, no matter what you take, make the best out of it, the experience will be carried throughout your entire life."

Shannon Hardy is a US Army National Guard Soldier who has been serving since 2014. Her military occupation specialty is an 88M Truck Driver in Worcester's 1166th Transportation Unit. Currently pursuing a nursing degree, she would like to one day switch over as a 68W Combat Medic.

Her Father served in the Navy, and she has several family members who have served as well. With Veterans Day coming around, it is a way for her to say thank you to those who have served, and currently serve, for this country.

The military has helped her to adapt to the environment of school and everyday interaction of life with organization, alertness, and time management skills. She advises veteran students to reach out to those who are in the same shoes, not to be afraid to ask for help and use the resources available. To those who wish to serve: "Reach out, speak to a recruiter, stay in shape, and practice teamwork."

Shannon Hardy

Heath Tisdale

Heath is a US Army Veteran who served from 2014 to 2018 and is now retiring with the rank of Specialist (SPC). He was stationed at Fort Bliss as a Chemical, Biological, Radiological and Nuclear Specialist (74D), and is currently a Fire Science Major preparing to serve for the Worcester Fire Fighting Department. Veterans Day to him is a moment to reflect on all those valiant military servicemen who have served including friendships he has made in his service term. A great benefit towards his personal life from the military would be that of career experience; the correlation of his training in CBRN could be applied for the firefighter service, not only in the teamwork but in the HAZMAT training as well.

As a staff member of the Veterans Affairs Office at QCC, he strongly advises students to take advantage of the office and to experience knowledge and camaraderie within the Veterans Club. To those who wish to join, he suggests: "Do something you are passionate about, both in personal and military careers, and remember to do well on it.

Welcome Students

Welcome new and returning students! The Open Door staff hopes that you find our paper to be an informative and entertaining window into the QCC world. We are published once a month with the help of the college’s many different departments and services. Our goal is to bring you important dates, events and articles offering a wide range of topics.

The Open Door goes beyond announcements and news. It’s a creative outlet for you, as a student, to have your work published whether it’s an editorial, poetry, reviews or art of all kinds; our policy is the same as our name. We encourage everyone to contribute in some way. The Open Door is located in the Fuller Student Center. Stop by and introduce yourself and your ideas. Or, if you prefer, send your submission via email to opendoor@qcc.mass.edu

Question of the Month

Be Thankful & Be Grateful

By Tyler Paul Wills

I hope everyone has a Happy Thanksgiving. Below are comments from QCC students and what they are thankful for this year.

- I am thankful for having a mother that is always there for me and always supporting me in life. I'm thankful for having a wonderful family and good friends.
Tyler Paul Wills
- I am thankful for my health, my niece and nephew, and my self-confidence.
Joe B.
- What I'm thankful for are the teachers that I was placed with, especially the two professors that are helping me to graduate.
Claude Niyonzima
- I'm thankful for the people that have gotten me to where I am today.
Big V
- I am very thankful for being able to use my passion for counseling to help young people that do not have someone to talk to.
Nana A.N. Santiago
- I am thankful for my family, friends, and my health.
Doris W.
- I'm thankful for being very successful and having great people and friends.

Neil is a US Air Force National Guard Airman and has been serving his country since February 2015. The Sr. Airman is a Fighter Aircraft Integrated Avionics Technician. He was recently deployed to Romania for a military operation. Neil is currently an Engineering Major at QCC, preparing to transfer to into the Electric Engineering program at UMASS Amherst. As for military family history, there are traces that some served in the Coast Guard. In his eyes Veterans Day are for those that are in and merit recognition as an inspiration to pursue the military because of their sacrifice. Aside from educational benefits, Neil believes that he has benefited from experience, memories, structural development and time management the military has developed.

His message to other veteran students: “Speak to the veterans, make connections with those around, gain their knowledge, and come into the veteran’s affairs office at QCC.”

To those joining the military: “Join into something you’re interested in, speak to those who know about the subject and do something you love.” As said by his father: “If you do what you love, you will never work a day in your life.” It is because of this inspiration that Neil says “I always feel like a little kid at an air show.”

Giovanni David Caban

US Army National Guard Soldier Giovanni Caban has been enlisted since 2015 with three years of service. His current unit is the 1166th Transportation Unit in Worcester where he is a Truck Driver (88M) for his unit. Specialist (Army Rank) Caban comes from a military background with family members serving in the Marines, Air Force, and Army. For this soldier, Veterans Day is not just a celebration of those who serve, have served, and will be serving, it is also a day to celebrate his birthday. Humbly, Giovanni states that as for Veterans Day we (the military men and women) do not do enough. “We must remember those that are still fighting,” he said. As a member of the military, Giovanni appreciates the benefits he has received in everyday life, education, and personal growth. Developing connections, relationships, education, and progressive leadership skills through the military have helped him through his civilian life. The Open Door asked him what advice he would give to those veteran students currently studying and those who wish to one day serve in the military: “Continue in your education, stay fit, reflect the professionalism of the military, and stride towards your career goals.”

As for those who wish to serve: “Make sure you know why you wish to join,” he said. “Be it benefits, monetary gain, experience, or patriotism, be sure to ask yourself how much time you are willing to invest.”

My name is Yozue Davila (Josh), I am an English and Music Major at QCC and an active US Army Guardsman. My current unit is the 747 MP Company, and I am a 25U (Signal Support Systems Specialist). I have been serving since 2013, and with almost six years of service, I hold the rank of SGT (Sergeant). I have a rich history of veterans in my family, specifically the Army. Veterans Day to me is a special day of celebration and reminder of those Heroes among us who serve and continue serving for our great country to prosper and remain safe against any opposing forces. The military has benefited me in a significant way. Once a shy person, my personal character has matured towards being a more social person. It has also helped me in focus, determination, commitment, and teamwork. Plenty of my life goals have come from the military service, wanting to take action, help others, and solve difficult life problems.

My advice to military students is to try and correlate your experience and careers in a way that leads to success. Visit the Veteran Affairs office at QCC; there are some incredible students there to help and guide any questions you might have.

Last, to those who wish to serve, go in with a strong mentality. The training and long days only become as hard as you make them, it is a very pleasing feeling to know why you are serving and what cause you are serving for. More importantly, find a job that you will love to pursue in your civilian life. As a 20-year-old, I was not thinking of a long life career, but now I am striving to change my current military specialty towards a music inclined profession 42R (Army Band Person). Think of any job in this world, and you will find it in the military; do not be afraid to ask directly for what it is you want.

Yozue A. Davila:

I Stand With Immigrants

By Yozue A. Davila

On October 24, 2018, Selena Boria, a representative of I Stand With Immigrants brought a very diverse and vibrant community to listen to the voices of other immigrants as they shared their stories with the student body. In addition to the multicultural food and excellent promotional shirt, some of the faculty and students from QCC shared their story with the student body to influence and inspire immigrant students among us.

To begin, we had our President, Dr. Luis G. Pedraja, who gave a beautiful opening speech of his share within the immigrant society and backstory of his success as an immigrant.

Dr. Luis Pedraja: “I was born in Cuba, faced with a lot of restrictions. My family wanted me to have an opportunity, and I was sent out with one suitcase and one teddy bear for my journey. I arrived in Spain with a temporary visa and found a toy soldier to accompany my teddy bear for the rest of the travel.”

Like many other immigrants, it was tough for Dr. Pedraja to leave his homeland, but with sacrifice one can find success and come back to their home once again to make their family proud of their growth and progress. Dr. Pedraja believes that immigration should be celebrated within the differences, to understand the diversity and add it to our collateral strength. “It is not what divides us, but what unites us,” he said. To the students at QCC he advises to be frank, honest and don’t be afraid to engage in dialogue and connect. Most importantly he added was to share your hopes and wild dreams to achieve a mutual goal.

As Dr. Pedraja weaves the first path within the voice of the QCC immigrant community, many others came up to say a piece of their story as well. The following are some of the speakers:

Dr. Deborah Gonzales is a Puerto Rican woman who at the age of 18 arrived at the doors of Worcester. She now holds a Ph.D. Even though she had to work 2 or 3 times harder than others around her, she is proud of her success and to be considered an immigrant. “I still have my accent and am very proud of it because it represents who I am.”

Noella Penn is a QCC Nursing Student who arrived in the US from Africa in 2014.

Once asked, “Is it true that in Africa you live in Trees?” Noella saw that this was an unfortunate way people would view other countries. Despite this view, Noella still believes in the power of unification within the immigrant society. “I have faced a lot of challenges, but America has opportunities for everybody.”

Benamine Nupolu, our QCC Student Trustee, is from Ghana. “When am I going to sit in an airplane?” These were the opening words of Benamine. When he was a child, he would always ask his mother if he would be able to one day travel to the United States. This dream became so great that right after high school he flew from Ghana to the United States and succeeded through the steep road to success. This young man not only overcame the challenge of obtaining his GED after a failed attempt, but also became an engineering technician after long travels from Worcester to Spencer on foot. Benajmine serves as a great inspiration to all immigrants, from hard work to success, he took the hard road and achieved his goals regardless if everything was strange and new. “When going to college, QCC is not in the last place; it is the best. We are the best!”

Film Review Venom

Reviewed by Yozue A. Davila

With Deadpool setting the initial tone and fan generation of anti-hero, Venom hits theaters as a catch up on this kind of genre in super hero movie. Spider-Man has been a favorite for all Marvel fans, we can see the original trilogy pulling in an average of $800M within the box office. The most memorable of the trilogy is Spider-Man 3 pulling in $890.9M due to the first appearance of Venom within the franchise. The stand-alone anti-hero Venom movie pulled in a whopping $400M within the first 2 weeks of release, this could be a very grand opportunity for a sequel. Like Deadpool, Venom could pull in a great amount of fandom on its spin-off tales of a very popular anti-hero. Though hard critics gave it a low rating of 30% on rotten tomatoes, the fans response to the movie raised it to 88% and 7/10. This gives the movie an exciting opportunity to have a block buster sequel. Why? Well let's look at some sequels which started with low ratings and then had an outstanding sequel fan uproar:

Lethal Weapon 2
Terminator 2: Judgment Day
Star Wars: Episode V - The Empire Strikes Back
Scream 2
X2
Matrix Reloaded
Saw II
Dark Knight
John Wick: Chapter 2

So what is this movie about? We have journalist Eddie Brock who runs into the founder of Life Foundation, Carlton Drake, whom Eddie knows is using malpractice within the scientific experiments being run in secret from the public view. One night while finding access into the laboratory, Eddie comes to find an organism labeled a Symbiote within one of the rooms. This alien, the entity of Venom, then merges with the body of Eddie Brock, not only giving the alien access to Eddie's body, but also to his brain thus then having conversations and making Eddie look like a schizophrenic. The alien then attempts to control the body of Eddie for his own gain but instead helps Eddie Brock to take down the shadowy organization of Life Foundation.

As a super hero fan, I believe this movie is a great addition to the Marvel Universe. Most Marvel movies are cast around the known everyday super heroes, Captain America, Iron Man, Spider Man, etc. But here we have a superhero that has been missing on very important screen time. Venom washes us with a fresh coating with its action, comedy, and great spin off tale which doesn't include the New York friendly neighborhood web slinger. Even though many fans would love to see the famed red suite take action, I believe Marvel is trying to hype this new hero to add it into the next roster of the grand Avengers. I know many fans who have been wondering why Venom is not affected from the Infinity War. Well there is a very logical explanation which the great Stan Lee has created, the alternate universes. Not only does the alternate universe play a great part in this hero's appearance, but we must also keep in mind the rights that have been sold to the different movie production studios. Marvel Cinematic Universe owns pretty much all of Marvel which is under Disney, but Sony and Fox still hold a very important end of the tail for some of these heroes. Spider-Man held by Sony and X-Men held by Fox makes it a bit difficult for Disney to do as it wishes with all the characters crossing within the grand Marvel Universe.

But fear not! Sony has come to an agreement with the Marvel Cinematic Universe, this is the reason of the new Spider-Man appearance within the Avengers franchise series. Pretty soon we will be seeing how Venom can be intercrossed into this universe and maybe even having Fox release some of our favorite X-Men heroes. To end with a bang, Venom is promised a sequel. For those who have seen the movie or know the comics, there is a red "Carnage" Venom must take care of, for those who have no clue, watch the movie and stay for a little to see the after credit teaser that will have you talking about the movie for the rest of the season.

Coco

Reviewed By Reneasia Love

Once again, Disney-Pixar has created another wonderful masterpiece that the entire family can enjoy for generations to come. Coco is a heart-warming animated movie with an amazing storyline and a beautiful award-winning music score, Remember Me.

Coco's storyline centers around Día de Muertos (Day of the Dead), a holiday that is practiced throughout Mexico in which family and friends pray and remember their loved ones who passed on. The main character of the story is Miguel, a young boy who dreams of becoming a famous musician like his idol, Ernesto de la Cruz. However, Miguel must hide his passion for music from his family who made a generational ban on music. Miguel disobeys his family's objections and enters a talent show for the Día de Muertos, desperate to find a guitar, Miguel breaks into Ernesto's mausoleum and takes his guitar to use for the show. As punishment for stealing from the dead, Miguel turns invisible and must receive a blessing from a family member before sunrise or else he will become one of the dead. While venturing the Land of the Dead, Miguel meets Hector, a skeleton who wishes to visit the Land of the Living to see his daughter again. As the two new friends travel the Land of the Dead, Miguel and Hector unlocks the secrets of Miguel's family.

The plot had a lot of twists and turns, the story and humor are captivating enough for children while being mature enough for adults. The animation and visuals were superb, as expected, Disney has animated an imaginative and creative world with astounding colors and special effects. I highly recommend Coco to anyone who's interested in a remarkable story that embraces love, family, and the Mexican culture.

Records & Registration News

Key dates and deadlines for Fall Semester

- Withdrawal period is through November 16. To withdraw from a class, your instructor or your academic advisor must sign the Withdrawal form. After November 16, your professor may grant you the grade of W, but you are no longer entitled to that grade. Your instructor may assign the grade of F. If you are considering withdrawing from a course and receive financial aid, talk to the Financial Aid Office to find out if your package will change due to the withdraw.
- Priority Registration is November 5-19 for returning students. You have seniority over all new students. Don't wait to register for Intersession or the Spring 2019 semester.
- Monday November 12 is the observed holiday for Veteran's Day. Classes will not be held on Sunday November 11 or Monday November 12.
- Last day to change to or from an AUDIT is Friday November 16
- Thanksgiving Recess is Thursday November 22-25, there are no classes during that period.
- Final Week of Classes December 12-18, during the final week of classes there is a modified class schedule. Check The Q for the Fall 2018 Final Exam schedule or ask your instructor for a detailed class syllabus. Final grades are due on The Q 48 hours after the last class/exam.

Final Week of Classes/Day Classes are on a Revised Schedule to allow for a Two-Hour Final Examination

Final exam week begins on Wednesday, December 12 – Tuesday, December 18, for all day classes (defined as any class that meets before 4 p.m.).

PLEASE NOTE: Evening classes (defined as any class that begins at 4:00 p.m. or thereafter) will meet at their regular times and do not have a special exam schedule.

Each two-hour period of time during finals weeks may be used for final exams, classroom instruction, or other types of evaluation at the instructor's discretion.

If a course does not fit exactly into one of the time modules below, please use the closest time module for that time. For example, if a class meets on MW from 9:30 a.m. – 10:45 a.m., it would be assigned to the MWF 9:00 a.m. time slot.

SOME OF COLUMBIA'S BEST AND BRIGHTEST STUDENTS HAVE COME FROM
QUINSIGAMOND COMMUNITY COLLEGE.

The School of General Studies—Columbia University's college for returning and nontraditional students—offers the rigor of a liberal arts education from one of America's finest universities. GS is committed to supporting students who transition from two-year colleges to a four-year university. Our students are fully integrated into the academic life of Columbia, taking classes with peers in the other undergraduate colleges, sharing the same Arts & Sciences faculty, and earning a bachelor's degree from Columbia University.

QCC MENTORING

One strong relationship is all it takes

When you receive a QCC Mentor, you will gain a trusted guide, a personal and professional resource, a connection to the professional world, and a friend.

By participating in the QCC Mentoring program, you will learn ways to raise your GPA, while building connections in the career path of your choice. This is a chance to build your personal and professional network and develop lifelong skills that you can take with you wherever you go.

Mentees will receive training, guidance, resources, and support throughout the program.

QCC Mentoring:

- Builds self-confidence and self-esteem
- Provides motivation
- Delivers vital college/work/life strategies
- Offers support and experience in public speaking/presentations
- Enables students to grow to their full potential

To learn more about the QCC Mentoring program, please email mentoring@qcc.mass.edu, call 508.854.4573, or visit 120A in the Administration Building.

W. Boylston Street Campus: Harrington Learning Center—2nd floor (508) 854-4308

Southbridge Campus: 5 Optical Drive, Main Floor (774) 318-2110

Starting November 5th through November 19th, registration is exclusively for returning and active students. This means that you can build your Winter/Spring schedules during these dates and get the best possible seats!

DID YOU KNOW?

You don't have to wait until your final grades are posted. Assume success!

Build your Winter/Spring schedule now on the assumption that you'll be passing your current classes. You can always make adjustments later.

Your bill isn't due until the first week of January!

If you register early, you don't have to pay the day you register. You can register now, and make plans to pay later.

The classes you first pick don't have to be your final ones.

If you later need to make schedule changes for any reason, you have until January 30th to make adjustments.

DATES TO REMEMBER:

November 11 and 12: Veteran's Day College Closing. Thank you, Veterans!

November 16: Last day to withdraw without Academic Penalty: Withdrawal by today would not affect your GPA; you would receive a "W" grade.

November 22—25: Thanksgiving Holiday College Closing

Thank you QCC students!

Over 900 of you took the Student Success Survey last spring, and your answers and feedback were used as a basis to develop important recommendations for President Pedraja and the Executive Team. We appreciate the time you took to submit your answers, share your issues, success stories, and feedback about QCC, from the classroom to the parking lot!

As a result of your feedback, we are examining ways to:

- provide consistent services among all the campus locations
- increase academic support for you to reach our education goals
- improve our customer service, and streamline registration and payment
- ask for your feedback on an annual basis, so that your voice is heard and considered as we make changes toward continual improvement

Thank you for contributing your input on how you define student success. The college has adopted the Student Success Task Force's recommendation, defining student success as:

Student success is whatever an individual student has set an educational goal or outcome, whether it be for an Associates Degree, Certificate, or to take one class.

If you have further feedback you would like to share, or would like to get involved with the Committee for Student Success, please contact one of the committee members below:

The School Year Start at the Children's School

The school year got off to a fantastic start at the Children's School in Classrooms 1 and 2. As the children explore in both classrooms, they have been busy investigating new educational materials, reconnecting with past friends and establishing new friendships. At any moment, one might see young engineers building castles in the block area, novice scientists making observations through binoculars, early artists adding detail to three-dimensional art work, future readers and writers engaged in teacher-guided small group experiences and kitchen chemists measuring and mixing together ingredients; we're gearing up for large cooking projects over the next couple weeks ahead.

We have also welcomed QCC Capstone students to our classrooms. We are eager and excited for Capstone students to be part of the inner-workings of various educational aspects, while gaining hands-on experience in an environment conducive to learning. The Children's School teachers are certainly appreciating the students' assistance and involvement.

The children are becoming more familiar with our classroom routines and helped write the classroom rules; safety is always our number one priority. With the school year in full-swing, we have focused on creating a collaborative atmosphere and understanding that we can embrace our similarities and unique differences. We have been reading stories at group time each day and some books are sure to become classroom favorites, including Don't Let the Pigeon Drive the Bus and Today I Will Fly, both by Mo Willems. Stories such as these encourage social and emotional development and are sure to inspire many laughs among children, students, teachers and faculty. The Children's School is looking forward to a fun-filled school year as we foster an excitement and passion for life-long learning!
